

KAMPCO FOODS PARTNERS WITH COMMUNITY HEALTH CHARITIES TO BUILD STRONGER, HEALTHIER COMMUNITIES

KampCo Foods, including Johnny Carino's and Kamp's 1910 Café, give back to charity in September through Give Back Nights, Generosity Jars, and More

Oklahoma (September 19, 2018)

KampCo Foods and Community Health Charities are partnering to build stronger, healthier communities during the upcoming year as a part of the KampCo Gives Back campaign.

“We have employees facing all kinds of health issues. As we look around at our employees and neighborhoods, and the communities around us, we see many needs,” said Randy Kamp, founder of KampCo. “We believe we have an obligation to use our resources to give back and we are excited to support such worthy causes and make a difference in our local communities.”

All nine of KampCo's locations across Oklahoma and Texas, which include five Johnny Carino's restaurants and four Kamp 1910 Café diners, are committed to building stronger, healthier communities. The company will be promoting a nonprofit or special cause each month and encouraging employees to get involved by giving and spreading the word, emphasizing that any amount of support makes an impact. Each location will host a Give Back Night at each month, encouraging customers to give back as they dine. On September 26th, KampCo will kick off this partnership by donating 10 percent of proceeds at all KampCo locations to Community Health Charities.

“We are so excited to be partnering with Randy and Linda Kamp and all of the Kamp's and Johnny Carino's locations under the KampCo umbrella,” said Shelly Douglas, development manager for Community Health Charities in Oklahoma and the central region. “They already do so much for the community, and their passion for giving back is a gift to these wonderful nonprofit organizations and causes we are highlighting throughout the year.”

“We have been very blessed and believe we have an obligation to give back where we can,” said Kamp. “Many good causes in society today need better funding, and we are excited to do our part and hope our employees, customers, and the community will join us to do as much as we can together.”
